Area Should Drive For Its Share of Dispersed Industry

LOOKING FORWARD: Ever hear of the Industrial Revolution? Sure you have, but to refresh your memory, it began late in the 18th Century in England. Large-scale production started by use of power machines, and big changes came in the economic and social structure of the country. It spread to other parts of Europe in the 19th Century and came to the United States. Western civilization today is largely the result of the changes consequent upon the Industrial Revolution.

Not too many years ago atomic bombs were dropped on Japan. At that time people here looked upon this simply as something that was going to get World War II over and bring the boys home more quickly. Lots of people shuddered but getting the war over was the big thing.

Today thoughts of the atom and the energy it releases are of two types. The one is the cause of the world, and the change atomic energy could make in our economic structure.

And here's where we come in. Industrial revolution — or evolution — may be closer than you think.

It all may be quicker than you think — this use of atomic energy for power — and this industrial use plus the fear of the atomic and hydrogen bomb should start us looking constructively at what we know as The Atomic Age.

What of Timmo is driving at is this: They're going to be putting up lots of new plants powered by atomic energy in the not-too-far future and we who are concerned about our area of economic distress could start working right now for such industrial institutions. We've made both strong and half-hearted efforts to get present-type industry into our area of distress and have failed. Maybe if we got in on the ground floor now we could get some of the new-type.

I was talking with State Senator Glen O. Jones the other day and the subject came up. Senator Jones is chairman of the Illinois Atomic Energy commission, set up to study the subject, and is in a pretty good position to speak.

I was amazed to learn that right in Illinois there are three atomic reactors, which can supply energy needed to create steam and thus electricity. They're being set up now in other parts of the state. This means that as time progresses more and more will be available.

And with this new type of energy, plants will have to be revolutionary. Since they have to be made over, it should be easier to get them into this area.

This dispersal thing definitely is something to be reckoned with. In spite of the fact that cities seem to be growing and southern Illinois continues to get nothing, the nuclear weapon threat still is a big threat to the congested areas, especially the coastal cities.

Dispersal is a must, I'm told, and when it's a must, it must go some place where there's more

Ike to Remain On Vacation Through Friday

Awaits Response
From West Europe
To Offer of Food

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower will remain here through next Friday, the White House said today.

The President, who arrived here last Wednesday, will return to Washington either late Friday or early Saturday morning. The reason he will not stay here during the weekend is that he has a personal engagement in Washington late Saturday.

Meantime, the White House denied a report that Mr. Eisenhower would announce his second term decision from Thomasville late Friday after the New York stock market closes for the week. "There isn't a thing to it," said Press Secretary James C. Hager.

Mr. Eisenhower has indicated that he will be ready to make a decision by the end of this month and he has promised not to "dilly-dally" in making his decision public. Hager said today he assumed the President would hold a news conference in Washington Wednesday, Feb. 22, but he refused to indicate whether he expected "the" announcement that day.

Offers Food to W. Europe

The President today also awaited response from Western European nations to his offer of American surplus farm commodities.

The Chief Executive announced Sunday that this nation was ready to make surplus agricultural products available to the countries of western Europe now suffering one of the most cruel winters of the century.

Such details as whether the commodities will be given or sold and the quantities to be involved depended first on the desires of the western European nations and a determination of their needs.

Iron Curtain Excluded

The President's dramatic offer applied, to the present, at least, only to western Europe and not to countries behind the Soviet Iron Curtain.

PTA Founders' Day Meeting Tonight

Parents and teachers are reminded to attend the Harrisburg council of P. T. A. units meeting at the McKinley grade school to-night at 7:30 in observance of the annual Founders' Day anniversary.

John A. K. Fox of Chicago will be the guest speaker, choosing as his subject "Juvenile Delinquency." Mr. Fox was for 14 years a law officer dealing with juvenile offenders and their cases in the courts.

A skit entitled "Mr. Facts" will be presented by members of the Harrisburg P. T. A., and awards will be made.

Firemen Find Hidden Gold Pieces, Old-Style Bills

ROCK FALLS, Ill. (AP) — Vegetable peddler Kirkman Marfleet, 88, today refused to talk about the hoard of gold pieces and old bills which tumbled out of hiding places in his blazing home.

Meanwhile, Rock Falls Bank officials sat down to count the hoard. Fire Chief Russell Maynard estimated it at "several thousand dollars," but bank officials thought the figure was probably in the hundreds.

The money was discovered when firemen invaded Marfleet's home to put out a fire Sunday.

They said they found the gold pieces and old-style bills hidden in books, envelopes, nailed to the walls, ammunition boxes, tobacco sacks, dishes, pots, and pans.

Marfleet and his 84-year-old wife escaped the flames without injury. He had nothing to say about the money.

Hearing Tuesday On Canalization Big Muddy River

MURPHYSBORO, Ill. (AP) — Southern Illinois residents will gather here Tuesday to make the latest in a long series of pleas for canalization of the Big Muddy River.

Officers from the Army Corps of Engineers office in St. Louis will conduct a hearing in the Murphysboro High School. City officials, civic groups, labor organizations and social clubs have made plans to send delegations to back the canal plan.

Although no engineering estimate has been made of the possible cost of the project, it is agreed the cost would be millions of dollars.

The project calls for dredging a 9-foot deep channel 60 feet wide in the Big Muddy River. A canal would be dug from the Mississippi River to a point on the Big Muddy west of Murphysboro. The Big Muddy would be dredged to a point northwest of Benton and five dams and locks would be needed to provide the 9-foot depth.

The first proposal to canalize the river was made in 1908. Since then, the project has been proposed several times. Backers of the plan claim it would greatly help revive coal mining and attract new industries in southern Illinois.

The backers say cheap water transportation would be a boost to the coal industry and the same cheap rates on raw materials barged to the area would attract new industry.

Death Takes Mrs. Everett Foster

Mrs. Norma Foster, 65, wife of Everett Foster, died at 10:15 Sunday at her home in Muddy. She was born in Williamson county March 24, 1890, to the Rev. William and Mary Durham. She had been in poor health for 10 years and bedfast for the past three years.

Help Soil Bank Plan, IAA Chief Asks Farmers

Tells 8,000 at
Mass Meeting Proposal
May Be Sabotaged

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — The president of Illinois' Farm Bureau organization today called on 8,000 farmers at a mass meeting to help keep the soil bank plan from being "sabotaged."

In a speech at the opening of the Illinois Agricultural Association's mass protest meeting against the Senate farm bill as it now stands, IAA President Otto Steffy said:

"I do not intend to sit idly by and see midwestern farmers liquidated further or see the objectives of a sound soil bank plan as composed by the Farm Bureau sabotaged."

He called on the assembled farmers to back four major amendments to the Senate bill and elect delegates to go to Washington with him to seek adoption of the amendments during Senate debate on the measure this week.

Eliminate High Supports

The changes proposed by Steffy would:

1. Amend the soil bank section of the bill to permit and encourage: control of diverted acres on both basic and non-basic crops; reduction of government crop stockpiles by increasing payments for underplanting of future allotments; placing of a percentage of the depleting acres in soil conserving crops as a qualification for price supports; elimination of acreage allotments on corn for 1956 or a return to 1955 corn acreage allotments.

2. Removal of the provision raising price supports on dairy products.

3. Removal of the "two-price system" for rice.

4. Elimination of the return to 90 percent support prices on basic crops — cotton, corn, wheat and peanuts.

Equality Man Fined On Two Charges Following Collision

James A. Millsap, of Equality was fined yesterday morning in justice of the peace court at Shawneetown on his pleas of guilty to two charges arising from a collision Saturday night on a Route 13 curve near Equality.

An auto driven by Bob Davis, who lives south of Harrisburg, rounded the curve and crashed into the Millsap car, which was parked on the pavement, officers said.

Neither Davis nor Millsap was hurt but the vehicles were damaged extensively. Millsap pleaded guilty to charges of illegal parking and intoxication.

GM Reports Record Pay By Employees

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors reported today workers in its United States plants received an all-time record weekly pay averaging $102.41 during 1955.

General Motors people had a good year in 1955. Harlow H. Curtice, company president, and Alfred P. Sloan, chairman of the board, reported in a special statement made in advance of the company's annual report.

The pay of the workers was up an average of nearly $11 a week from 1954, when the weekly average pay was $91.44.

The number of workers drawing the pay checks also was up sharply. In 1954 hourly-rate employment averaged 367,462 in United States plants. In 1955 hourly-rate employment was up to 410,022.

Average hourly earnings in the United States for General Motors were $2.41 compared to the $1.88 average for all manufacturing reported by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The company said the average work week was 42.5 hours, compared to 40.4 hours in 1954.

Probe Firing of CIPS Employee

Cohnen Dismissed
After Charge
Against Carpenter

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — M. S. Luthringer, Central Illinois Public Service Co. president, today was scheduled to investigate the firing of a young CIPS employee because of "partisan politics."

LeRoy Cohnen, assistant to the advertising manager of the utility, was fired after his talk before Young Republicans in Chicago Thursday in which he charged Secretary of State Charles E. Carpenter forced employees of that office to contribute 2 percent of their salaries to a special fund.

Cohnen formerly was employed in the secretary of state's office, but joined CIPS about three months ago.

Nicholas J. Bohling, the Chicago alderman opposing Carpenter for GOP nomination for secretary of state and on whose behalf Cohnen had spoken in Chicago, described the firing.

In an open letter to Luthringer, Bohling said, "It seems to me that this action is unprecedented and threatens a heritage that we loudly proclaim to the rest of the world that we in America have freedom of speech and assembly."

Luthringer said he had not been aware even that Cohnen was a CIPS employee, but that "as a utility company we don't like employees to engage in partisan politics because we are not an ordinary business, we are a regulated business."

CIPS Advertising Manager C. W. Chiles, Cohnen's immediate superior, said he fired Cohnen "summarily upon his return from Chicago Friday without any direction from anyone — that goes for Mr. Carpenter or anyone inside or outside the company. . . what LeRoy Cohnen did in Chicago did not constitute the action he described to me in going to Chicago."

Bohling charged Cohnen had the permission of his "immediate superior" to attend the Young GOP meeting in Chicago, and that his firing resulted from pressure of "the most dastardly kind."

Continue Pumping Into Reservoirs

Pumps continued to send water into the Harrisburg reservoirs just north of town this morning.

They were pumping water from Middle Fork creek, which remained high enough for the operations. Pumping has continued since early Wednesday except for a period Friday, when the water got too low. Rains Friday and Friday night quickly ended this situation.

The Ohio river rose as a result of the general rains. Yesterday at Shawneetown the stage was 39.5 and it is expected to be 40.3 tomorrow.

Predicted crest, barring further precipitation, is 43 feet Saturday.

Fraternity Leaders Claim Hazing Is Out-Dated and Unnecessary

By United Press
A cross-section of fraternity men today condemned the old-fashioned "Hell Week" ordeals which resulted in the death of a college freshman 10 days ago.

They said the traditional "Hell Week" paddlings and "long walks" are out-dated, unnecessary, and give fraternities a bad name. Some called them "idiotic" and even "barbaric."

The fraternity spokesmen were queried by the United Press concerning the Feb. 10 death of an 18-year-old Massachusetts Institute of Technology fraternity pledge.

The pledge, Thomas Clark of Harvey, Ill., crashed through reservoir ice and drowned 12 miles from the MIT campus. His superiors in the Delta Kappa Epsilon chapter had taken him on a blindfolded car ride and ordered him to find his way back in the darkness.

Leaders Face Issue
Clark was to be buried near his home today and at MIT fraternity leaders met Sunday night to discuss plans for curbing "Hell Week" stunts.

Plane Dips Low On Approach; Crashes Into Hill

Third Disaster in World Aviation
Within Three Days

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — A French airliner on its way from Indochina to Paris dipped too low in approaching Cairo airport today, hit a desert sandhill, crashed and burned, killing 52 of 64 persons on board.

It was 12 hours after the crash before officials of the French airline were able to confirm and announce that 64 persons were aboard.

The officials said the four-engine DC6B carried 55 passengers and 9 crew members. Only 12 of the 64 survived—6 crew members and 6 passengers. Most of the survivors were in critical condition, though all but possibly one were expected to recover.

Pilot Capt. Charles Billet was among the survivors. He said his co-pilot was dragging the plane in low over the desert toward the international airport in pre-dawn darkness when "he became too low."

"When I realized he was flying too low it was too late to avert the crash," Captain Billet said.

Bursts Into Flames

The four-engine American-built DC6B of the French Airlines TAI (Transports Aeriens Intercontinentaux) banged belly first into a low desert sandhill and burst into fire. The red light was on warning us to fasten our seat belts, said a French army officer who survived.

"I was struggling to get mine fasten when there came a terrible crash."

Airline officials here spent nine hours sorting out varying reports of the number aboard the plane before announcing the latest count was 61, including 52 passengers and 9 crewmen. Many of the passengers were children. Most were French.

The airline at Karachi, the plane's last stop, had said 64 were aboard. But the Cairo officials believed the number was based erroneously on the fact three others were booked to board in Cairo — where the plane never arrived.

The figure of 12 survivors was given by Andre Decamps, the French consul general.

Third Air Tragedy

"The disaster was the third major one to strike world aviation within three days. The death toll in the three crashes was at least 139."

It was the second major crash in the Mediterranean since Saturday, the third major disaster since Friday.

Friday night 40 U. S. Marines were killed when a Marine Corps transport plane, military version of the DC4, smashed into a densely wooded ridge near the Oakland, Calif., naval air station, on the eastern side of San Francisco Bay.

Saturday a British York transport plane carrying British troops home to England from the Suez Canal zone crashed on takeoff near Valletta, Malta, killing all 50 men aboard. Most of the victims were Royal Air Force men.

Two Mt. Carmel Teen-Agers Held In Auto Theft, Burglary

PRINCETON, Ind. (AP) — Two teen-agers from Mount Carmel, Ill., and one from Indiana were in jail here today, accused of automobile theft and burglary. Authorities arrested Charles Davis, 17, and Harold Samson, 16, both of Mount Carmel, and 15-year-old Lin Garrett, Princeton, early today.

Deputy Sheriff Jim Purcell said the youths were in a car stolen in Mount Carmel Friday night. He said they admitted breaking into a filling station at Johnson, Ind., and a farm machinery shop in Owensville, Ind., Friday night.

Authorities said Samson and Davis admitted they committed five burglaries in Mount Carmel last fall and this winter. Samson is on probation for committing four burglaries in Mount Carmel in 1954.

Italian Actress Faces Competition From Four Americans in Oscar Race

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Italy's Anna Magnani faced a tough fight today as a newcomer in Hollywood's Oscar derby — lined up against four American veterans of Academy Award races.

Miss Magnani, first of her country to receive the honor, was one of five actresses nominated Saturday night for the 28th annual academy awards on a 90-minute NBC telecast.

The flamboyant Miss Magnani was considered the favorite to win the final Oscar March 21 for her role of a love-starved widow in "The Rose Tattoo."

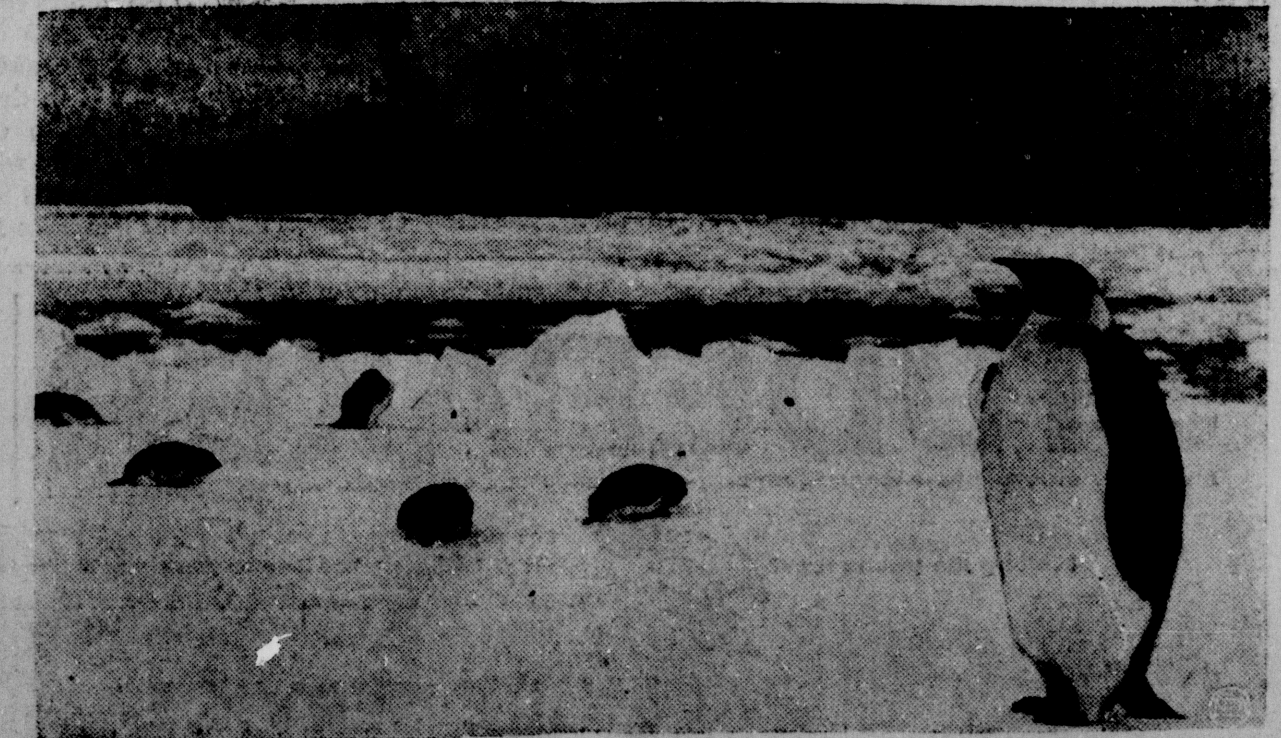

But she faced stiff competition: Susan Hayward, celebrating her fourth nomination is a popular bet to win for her part of an alcoholic in "I'll Cry Tomorrow." Eleanor Parker won her second nomination this time for playing opera star Marjorie Lawrence in "Interrupted Melody."

Two veteran Oscar winners of past years found themselves back in the running — Katherine Hepburn for "Summertime" and Jennifer Jones for "Love Is a Many-Splendored Thing."

The best actor race also featured a mixture of veterans and new faces. James Cagney was a hot favorite for "Love Me or Leave Me." But a new nominee was Ernest Borgnine, the somely

The Bulganin Offer

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

The United States cannot now or ever be a party to any plan of world settlement which calls for dividing the globe into Communist and non-Communist spheres of influence. Our moral position before the world demands that at all times we speak and act for freedom.

That is perhaps the chief reason why President Eisenhower could do no other than reject Russian Premier Bulganin's offer of a treaty of friendship between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Bulganin's proposal, set forth in his letter to the President, is basically a program for gaining American acceptance of Russian conquests to date. We would be asked, in effect, to enter upon a new era of "Soviet-American friendship" in which we would do nothing at all to disturb Russian rule over millions of enslaved peoples.

It is one thing to recognize, as we do, the existence of a military stalemate in the world today. It is quite another to extend formal recognition, to condone, Soviet conquests in Europe during and after World War II.

The only hope the enslaved have is America's moral support, its dedication to the cause of their freedom. To abandon them would be unthinkable, even though it is thoroughly plain we cannot now do anything concrete about restoring their liberty.

Furthermore, we have no assurance whatsoever that a treaty of friendship with Russia would be worth a ruble. Russia's path is strewn with broken treaties of this sort. They are maintained only so long as they are thought convenient and useful to the Kremlin.

In this specific instance, too, it seems fair to conclude the Russian leaders imagined their offer might drive a wedge between us and Britain on the occasion of the Eisenhower-Eden conversations.
The attempt was crude, and Britain already has pronounced it futile. The British understand no less than we that a stroke of the Soviet pen will not bring peace,
will not wipe away the many problems in the world's trouble spots.

As Mr. Eisenhower observed in his written reply to Bulganin, America is ready now as always to negotiate sincerely for world peace.

But to us the "spirit of Geneva," if it has had any meaning, does not signify simply the discarding of belligerent posture in return for a mutually approved carving up of the world. It means active, sincere effort to solve the critical problems that are the true peril
to peace.

Russia has so far shown no effort of that kind. Its price for friendship, indeed for peace, is the West's endorsement of all the evil
it has wrought.

Even in the world of nuclear force, free men need not thus court the "friendship" of tyrants.
We need not yield to their smiling blackmail. By keeping strong and united we can block their resort to violence, halt further conquest, and one day lift the yoke from the conquered.

Local Dealer Listed In National Ad

Green Paint and Wallpaper store is one of the dealers listed in a consumer magazine full page color ad on Dutch Boy Nalplex, a new latex flat wall paint. It is believed the first time that a nation-wide dealer listing has been made in the paint industry.

Nalplex is a new and different kind of latex paint. It's made with acrylic latex, which means that it is really odorless. A room may be painted and slept in within an hour
without a trace of painty odor.
A color card insert is carried with the full-page color ad with actual paint swatches rather than with approximations of the colors produced by printing inks.

DREW PEARSON Says:
Trevor Gardner Astounds Congressmen In Secret Mission; He Warns U. S. Lagging Behind Russia On Missiles; Air Force Dangerously Out Back.

WASHINGTON. — In testimony
so electrifying it stunned congressmen, but so secret only the bare details can be told, missiles expert Trevor Gardner charged that the Defense Department has failed to follow up vital scientific discoveries that could revolutionize air warfare. He warned fervently that the Russians may be pursuing these scientific concepts, thus gaining a military advantage that could spell disaster for the United States.

Gardner has just resigned as assistant air force secretary in protest against the lagging research program. He was promptly summoned behind closed doors
by the House Military Appropriations subcommittee to explain his stand. For three hours, he talked frankly about the internal conflicts that are holding back military research. Here are highlights that can be safely told.

1. Gardner revealed we have broken through the scientific barrier on new propulsion ideas and aerodynamic concepts that hold a "tremendous promise." These could boost the range, altitude and speed of our planes and missiles, he said—if we are willing to take the financial risk. Yet, for economy reasons, the Defense Department's civilian command has refused to go ahead.

2. He charged bluntly that our military planners "are underestimating the Russians." Intelligence reports from behind the Iron Curtain, he claimed, indicate that Soviet scientists are progressing faster on atomic and guided missile research than we had credited them.

DOLLARS AHEAD OF SAFETY

3. He warned that our defenses against enemy attack have been crippled for economy's sake. The minimum needs, outlined in the famous Killian report, cannot be met under the present air force budget, he charged.

4. Gardner objected vigorously to the Defense Department's priority system, which puts equal emphasis on the intercontinental ballistics missile and the medium-range guided-missile. He warned this might mean the Russians get the ICBM first.

5. He charged that the total air force budget had been dangerously slashed. The air force would need $3 to $4 billion more than has been budgeted for fiscal year 1957, he estimated. He urged an increase of $316,000,000 in the research budget for 1957.

Gardner insisted there was no thing personal in his charges. He still counted Secretary of Defense Wilson and Secretary of the air force his friends. But he took sharp issue with their judgment.
They believe in an orderly, step-
by-step research program, he said, whereas he believes in following up scientific break-through with an all-out effort.

Gardner charged that Wilson's approach "takes a lot longer and may eventually cost more money."
He warned that the research and development program, affecting the security of the country, can't be run "the way you build automobiles."

"Our most precious asset is time," Gardner declared. "I can very well be wrong about the need for more research and development, but I don't think I am. On the other hand, they (Wilson and Quarles) could be wrong. I would rather see me proven wrong than see them proven wrong, because there is no prize for second place."

REPUBLICANS HECKLE

Gardner, himself a Republican,
was hit by a few hostile questions from Republicans attempting to defend the administration.

"The Joint Chiefs of Staff told us they were satisfied with the defense budget," rasped Congressman Errett Scrivner, Kansas Republican.

Gardner waved a secret document which he had sent to Secretary Quarles, requesting more money for research and development.

"General Twining (the Air Force chief) was one of the endorsers of this document," Gardner retorted. "He is the only member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff I am concerned about."

Scrivner then pointed out that the past record showed more money had been earmarked for research and development progressively each year.

"If you read the fiscal reports,
it looks as if research and development funds have been going up each year," Gardner agreed. "But what happened was a major change in bookkeeping. Actually,
we received less money last year than the year before. And this year we received less than last year."

BLUNT BACKTALK

He reminded committee members that last year they, themselves, "arbitrarily cut $18,000-000 off our research and development budget."

"Would you mind striking out
the word, 'arbitrarily'?" asked Congressman Scrivner.

"Yes, I would mind," Gardner
replied bluntly.

Earlier, Chairman George Mahon of Texas had announced he wanted to make clear that the hearing was nonpolitical.

"The committee is not meeting to write an indictment on individuals," he said. "We are deeply concerned about the differences of opinion, and we want to hear both sides. We are especially concerned about this guided-missiles business."

Gardner explained that Wilson had assigned equal priority to the intercontinental and medium-range missiles because he feared Russia would use her 1,500-mile missile to blackmail NATO nations. Wilson wanted to rush development of 1,500-mile missiles of our own and locate them strategically around Europe as a deterrent.

Gardner argued that Soviet supersonic fighter-bombers could hit targets with atomic bombs
more effectively than medium-range missiles, thus could blackmail NATO nations without using missiles. In his opinion, he said, the Russians are building a 1,500-mile missile as one step toward the invincible intercontinental missile.

ROBBING PETER TO PAY PAUL
The Air Force has been keeping in the intercontinental missile race, he said, by the sheer expediency of lifting "big chunks of money" from other uses and applying them to the ballistics missile. This is setting back the whole program of modernizing
the Air Force, he warned.

Congressman Scrivner argued that we are so short of scientists and engineers that we cannot spend any more money than is now appropriated for research.

Thinking It Over— For Lent

By Robt. Diefenbacher, D.D.
Written for NEA Service

Several weeks ago we made a lot of resolutions for this year of 1956. They were personal resolutions—corrections we were going to make in the housekeeping habits of our own lives.

The Spirit of Christmas and God's gift to mankind pervaded
our thinking. We opened the windows of our souls and God's light came into our lives. We saw a lot of mess and some unwanted shadows. So we resolved to "do better."

The freshness of 1956 is wearing
off. We write "1956" as a date, without thinking. Are we slipping back into "pre-resolution" habits too without thinking?

During Lent we can review our good resolves. It could be that we have reverted to our old habits of being selfish, of putting off praying until a more appropriate time, and of forgetting our fellow men.

If the thought is a bit embarrassing, just remember that today is a new day. God is just as ready for an interview now as He was on January 1.

He might even be less rushed than He was when millions of people were making resolutions. Today we can "do better."

Duncan to Discuss Disaster Plans Over Station WSIL

How does a community plan for a disaster?

What does a community do when
a disaster strikes?

The answers to those two questions, so vital to the welfare of the entire community, will be answered by Ernest Duncan, chairman of the Disaster committee of the Saline county chapter of the American Red Cross on WSIL-
TV Tuesday, Feb. 21, at 5 p. m.

Unless a community has a definite plan of action, such as Mr. Duncan is now organizing in Saline county, the effects of a local tragedy, such as a tornado, flood, or fire, can be doubly severe and might mean a lot of needless suffering and wasteful confusion.

As in all of the 3,700 Red Cross
chapters throughout the country,
the local Red Cross disaster plan
is being coordinated in advance with other disaster relief agencies, as well as with local fire and police departments, to insure against duplication of efforts and misunderstandings.

However, the local Red Cross
chapter, under the direction of Mr.
Duncan, is doing more than just planning for natural disasters. It is also keeping in step with changing world conditions. Preparing and planning today, makes it possible to act tomorrow in the interest of the whole community.

Sheppard Believes Wife's Killer Among 'Spurned Lovers'
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard said today his wife's killer may be among her "spurned lovers" and "potential lovers."

The convicted wife-slayer made the statement in papers filed with the Ohio Supreme Court, which will review his second degree murder conviction.

The briefs filed by Paul M. Herbert, the new chief Sheppard defense counsel, detailed in 88 pages what Herbert felt was misconduct in the handling of the trial and refusal of the jurors to weigh the evidence properly. The state has 30 days in which to reply to Herbert's briefs. The court has set April 17 to hear oral arguments on the case. Then it will decide whether Sheppard's life sentence stands, or if he is to have a new trial or to be freed.

Mrs. Montgomery To Discuss Red Cross Blood Program

Mrs. B. E. Montgomery, Blood Recruitment chairman of the Saline county chapter of the American Red Cross, will speak over WEBG Tuesday, Feb. 21, at 2 p. m. Mrs. Montgomery will discuss the extremely vital blood program of the American Red Cross, which during the last year provided some hospital patient with one pint of blood every 20 seconds. The blood was made available to a fellow American through the Red Cross and was given free of charge to the patient.

In addition to whole blood the Red Cross furnished hospitals with blood derivatives. The most widely used derivatives are serum albumin, which has generally replaced plasma for the treatment of shock, and gamma globulin which is used to prevent serious after effects of measles and used in the treatment of infectious hepatitis. If the country's ill and injured are to continue to be provided with the whole blood and the blood derivatives they will require this year, one out of every 20 persons between the ages of 18 and 60 will need to make at least one blood donation in 1956.

Israel Chances Improved to Get U. S. Arms

Ship Sails with Tanks for Saudi Arabia As Embargo is Lifted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Israel's chances of getting U. S. arms aid, including some jet planes, have improved as a result of events of the past three days, some administration officials said today.

They emphasized that no decision has been reached but said Israel may get some favorable reaction on its arms request as a result of the controversial shipment of 18 U. S. tanks to Saudi Arabia. Saudi Arabia is one of Israel's Arab foes in the Middle East.

The freighter James Monroe sailed from Brooklyn N. Y., today with the tanks. Late Sunday night, 29 of the ship's 33 crew members demanded a 25 per cent bonus as wartime pay for making the voyage, which was granted after a brief delay in sailing.

After the tank shipment was disclosed by the United Press and prompted critical outcries, the government early Friday clamped an embargo on any arms shipments to the Middle East. But the embargo was lifted some 43 hours later.

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-NY) charged Sunday that "oil interests" represented by Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr., persuaded President Eisenhower to lift the embargo.

Celler said the "oil interests got to the President's ear" on the controversial arms shipment. He said "they are represented by Herbert Hoover Jr. who in the past has received some very lucrative contracts" from them.

Hoover was not available to reporters and a State Department spokesman declined comment on Celler's charge. The New York congressman, a frequent critic of U. S. policy toward Israel, did not say where he got his information. The undersecretary, son of the former president, is a former mining engineer and was a special State Department adviser on petroleum matters before his appointment as chief assistant to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Hershey Believes Administration Optimistic on Draft

WASHINGTON (AP)—Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey believes the administration is too optimistic in estimating draft calls would be cut by 20,000 during fiscal 1957.

Hershey, in testimony before a House Appropriations subcommittee released today, said the Budget Bureau permitted him to ask for 175,000 draftees.

"My estimate was 'hot that low,'" he added. He said an estimated 195,000 men will be drafted during the current fiscal year, which ends June 30. This compared to 213,728 in the previous fiscal year.

My heart is filled with pain
As I listen for your footsteps
That I'll never hear again.

A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memories still,
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.

Sadly missed by wife, Eva Nolen and children, Earl, Alma, Ethel and Dale. *198-1

About Town

protection than in the coastal and Great Lakes cities where almost everything is congregated.

Southern Illinois is one of the ideal spots for this dispersal. We all know that. We're definitely inland and have the natural resources and labor to make our lands ideal for the machinery of the Atomic Age. We need not go into all this again.

But what can we do? That's what I asked Senator Jones.

The Senator said that with the National Defense picture calling for dispersal of our industry, federal legislation might be passed to aid this movement. The Grass Roots themselves could go to their senators and congressmen, asking them to look into the possibility of legislation to speed dispersal from danger areas into distressed areas.

We should keep ourselves informed on atomic developments; there are pamphlets and magazines and services that can be secured which tell what companies are doing or planning along these lines.

We should be organized to "get there first" with the advantages of southern Illinois for new industry to be organized to take care of it, in case an interest is shown.

There's definitely going to be action along lines above, and we feel that southern Illinois is a good place for displaced industries. Let's do more than just beat the drums; let's start marching.

Group Approves
Million More for Devil's Kitchen Dam

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations committee has approved an additional one million dollars in federal funds for further work on Devil's Kitchen Dam in southern Illinois.

Democratic Congressman Kenneth Gray said today he believes Congress will vote the funds to be spent beginning July 1. The $1,000,000 is part of Gray's request for $4,300,000 in federal money for work on the artificial lake project south of Carbondale.

Gray said he believes Congress will approve the full sum that would be spent on completing the dam, building roads to the lake it creates, building a public beach and boat dock and surveying the site for private cabins.

Congress appropriated one million dollars last year for resumption of work on the dam that was stopped during World War II.

Rule Wabash County
Man Dies of Exposure

MOUNT CARMEL, Ill. (AP)—A coroner's jury ruled Sunday that a Wabash county farmer died of exposure outside his home after a drinking bout.

Neighbors of Charles Harris, 66, found his body Saturday night after he had not been seen for 24 hours. Authorities said the body was lying in a muddy area that showed Harris had tried to get up after falling and failed to do so.

Harris lived alone on the outskirts of Mount Carmel.

Professor Buried
Beneath Avalanche

MT. WASHINGTON, N. H. (AP)—Five snow "weasels" climbed treacherous slopes today carrying search parties to Tuckerman's ravine where a Northeastern University professor was buried beneath a thundering avalanche.

The victim was Dr. A. Aaron Leve, 29, of Boston, a psychology professor.

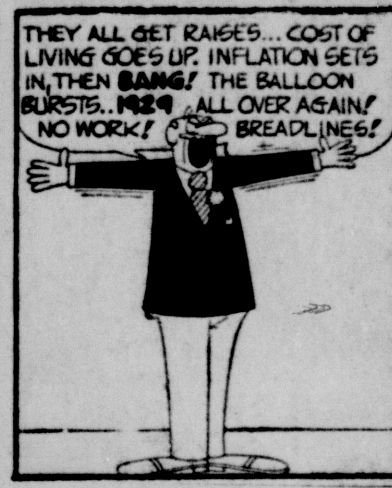

Four other mountain climbers were swept off their feet but escaped.

The ravine is about 1,500 feet below the top of 6,288-foot Mt. Washington. The immense cavern is about a mile in length, half a mile wide and 100 feet deep.

Speculate On Candidates for Vice President

By United Press
Speculation over who will be nominated as Democratic and Republican vice presidential candidates mounted today.
Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) occasionally mentioned as a vice presidential possibility himself on the Democratic ticket, predicted that if Adlai Stevenson wins his party's nomination, a Southerner will be named as Stevenson's running mate. Kennedy said this would be done "to give the ticket geographical balance."
Kennedy mentioned no names. But one Southerner known to be interested in number two spot on the Democratic ticket is Tennessee Gov. Frank Clement — strong Stevenson supporter even though a fellow Tennessean, Sen. Estes Kefauver, is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination.
Two Democratic mayors — Ben West of Nashville, Tenn., and Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia — predicted Sunday that if President Eisenhower runs again, the identity of his vice presidential running mate will be a major factor in the election.
Issue For Democrats
West said Democrats will make a big issue of the man "who is one heartbeat away from the presidency" if Mr. Eisenhower is a candidate.
"I don't think they can put Dicky over again," Dilworth said in reference to Vice President Richard M. Nixon. "Even with a new dog!"
This remark brought a charge from Los Angeles Mayor Norris Poulson, a Republican, that Dilworth was resorting to "demagoguery." Poulson said the Republicans "are going to have the same team and we're going to win."
The mayors appeared on a television forum.

Salukis Defeat Northern, 77-67

DeKALB, Ill. — Staving off a scoring spree in the closing minutes, Southern Illinois university's cagers took a firmer grip on second place in the Interstate Conference by defeating Northern Illinois 77-67, here Saturday night.

By winning, SIU increased its league mark to seven wins and only three losses, but the Salukis must win either one or both of its home games with Illinois Normal and Western Illinois Feb. 24-25 to take the number two spot.

Southern displayed one of its most balanced punches of the season Saturday as five players hit between 11 and 14 points.

Seymour Bryson, Quincy, was high with 14 while Bob Welch, Centralia, and Joe Johnson, Mt. Vernon, had 12 each; and centers Larry Whitlock, Mt. Vernon, and Gus Doss, East St. Louis, had 11 apiece.

Rebounding also was near even, Whitlock and Doss getting 11 apiece and Welch and Bryson, 8 each.

The game was close throughout, the score being tied seven times during the first half. SIU led 39-34, at the midway point, but Northern surged back in the second half to come within one point (66-59) with only six minutes left.

Two teams which have beaten Southern play at Carbondale this week end, Southern hosting Illinois Normal Friday night (Feb. 24) and Western Illinois — winner of its past 21 games—Saturday night (Feb. 25).

Illinois, Iowa Favored to Stretch Win Streaks Against Purdue, Indiana

CHICAGO — Illinois and Iowa face two of their most hazardous opponents tonight, but both were favored to stretch their Big Ten winning streaks.

Indiana will try to shanghai Iowa's defending champs at Bloomington while Purdue will attempt to duplicate the feat on Illinois' home court at Champaign.

Illinois will be shooting for its 10th straight and 10th in a row in Big Ten play. The Hawks are after their 9th in a row after bowing in their conference opener to Michigan State.

Two weeks from tonight, Illinois and Iowa meet at Iowa City in their showdown battle for the Big Ten championship. A loss before this crucial contest would all but eliminate the Hawks from further contention. An Illinois defeat before March 3 would enable the Hawks to win the undisputed championship by whipping the Illinois in their only meeting of the season.

Two other Big Ten contests tonight sent Northwestern (0-9) to Michigan State (4-5) and Ohio State (6-4) travels to Wisconsin (3-7).

Players Trade Punches in Pro Cage Games

By United Press
Players in the National Basketball Assn. acted as if they were warming up for the Golden Gloves boxing competition during the past weekend.

Two players were thrown out of a game at Boston for fighting, while a battle royal broke out in another hectic struggle at Minneapolis.

The Celtics, led by Bob Cousy, turned back Philadelphia, 120-118, at Boston despite a 39-point performance by the Warriors' Paul Arizin. However, the fans got a greater thrill watching two heavyweights—Jack Nichols of the Celtics and Philadelphia's Joe Graboski—trade punches in the final period.

At Minneapolis, the Lakers raced to a 100-93 victory over the Rochester Royals after a third-period pitched battle that involved almost the entire squads. In the co-featured bouts, Clyde Lovellette of the Lakers took on Don Steinkamp, while Slater Martin of Minneapolis tangled with Ed Fleming.

All was serene at St. Louis, where the Fort Wayne Pistons handed the Hawks their sixth straight defeat, 89-83. Mel Hutchins scored 18 points for the winners, while Bob Pettit had 20 for St. Louis.

'Little Davids' Begin District Play This Week

SPRINGFIELD — The valiant efforts of the "Little Davids," those small schools assigned to district tournaments, this week will open play for the Illinois state high school basketball crown.

The first district tournament starts tonight at Columbia, where O'Fallon, Freeburg and Mascoutah will be favored.

There will be 238 schools in the 12 district tourneys. Fifteen more districts will start Tuesday night, 17 get underway Wednesday and the rest start Thursday.

Only four district winners got through the regionals and as far as sectional play last year, and none got to the finals. One of those which appears to have a good chance to last to sectional play this year is Little York, Valley Conference leaders who have won 23 and lost once this season.

If Little York wins its district title it would advance to the Aledo regional.

Two other district clubs with fine records are Benson and Minier, but both, if they were district titles, would advance to rugged competition in regionals. Minier, 22-2, is at Green Valley where Danvers, 17-5, appears as the toughest district rival. The winner would go to the Pekin regional, where the host club, Peoria Lime-stone and Peoria Manual would be favored.

Benson, 25-1, is favored over Roanoke, 18-6, in the Roanoke district, but would run into the likes of Peoria Central, Washington and East Peoria at the East Peoria regional.

Lamar Lundy's 26 points sparked the Boilemakers to a 80-66 non-conference triumph over No tre Dame.

Looking at Sports

BY BILL MELTON

It's tournament time. District tournaments start this week and regional play gets underway next week.

Probably won't be much interest in this area in the district meets as none of the immediate area clubs are entered. Thompsonville is the nearest team around here with a following and the team, coached by "Buddy" Peyton, former Galatia high school star, is entered at Waltonville.

But every fan in these parts will be vitally interested in regional tourney competition. And the tourney at McLeansboro promises to be one of the most interesting in the state.

There are eight teams assigned to play at McLeansboro and six will face the opening tieoff with the feeling that it could be the winner.

On the record to date Ridgway and Equality can't be considered a title threat.

Also on the record Shawneetown will have to be considered the favorite. But five others—Harrisburg, Carrier Mills, Eldorado, Norris City and host McLeansboro, and not particularly in that order—have better than an outside chance to win. Their followers will tell you so.

A couple of weeks ago I was at Norris City to see the Eldorado-Norris City game. At half time I was drinking a Coke with a fan from up that way and he said, "Well, how do you think the tourney will go?" I replied that I would string along with Shawneetown, that I always found it best to go with a winner. "No percent in betting against the Yanks, Norris Dame or any other consistent winner." Then added, "I think the Carrier Mills-McLeansboro semifinal game could be the best of the entire tournament."

About that time a complete stranger tapped me on the shoulder and asked "What makes you think McLeansboro will be in the semifinals? They have to beat Norris City first." Turned out the guy wasn't trying to start an argument, just stating a fact. We had a pleasant conversation and he conceded McLeansboro was a strong team, but also stuck by his first statement—McLeansboro will have to beat Norris City first.

That's the whole story of this tournament. Good games all along the way. Six clubs have a chance to take it all. But only one will. This should make for exciting, interesting games at each session. And big crowds. Yes, looks like a fine tournament. Hope nothing happens to keep it from being otherwise.

For the "you pick 'em" for tournament week we are listing the drawings for ten of the regionals and asking you fans to predict a winner for all ten. Just circle your choice. All entries must be received at The Register sports desk not later than 5 p. m. Feb. 27, or if mailed, be postmarked before that time.

Herrin Thumps Mount Vernon; Pincks Win, 32-31

By United Press
The round ball took some strange twists and turns during the last full weekend of Illinois high school basketball.

Such season-long powers as Moline, Rock Island, Maywood, Proviso and Collinsville each lost twice.

Herrin, loser to Mount Vernon by 10 points in December, justified its ranking in the United Press poll by dumping Mount Vernon 59-50 Saturday night.

Chicago Heights Bloom, a loser to Harvey Thornton a month ago, copied the South Suburban honors by blasting Thornton 81-70 Saturday.

Robinson, which lost nine games but none in conference play, clinched the Eastern Conference crown by beating favored Cumberland 64-61.

Edwardsville's Friday night victory over Collinsville was also consistent, since the Tigers had whipped the Kahoks in a first meeting. The Tigers then wrapped up the Southwestern loop crown by beating East St. Louis 61-54 Saturday.

Galesburg gained revenge against Moline Friday, and Moline was clobbered again 79-67 at Quincy Saturday. Galesburg Saturday won from Macomb 87-52.

Rock Island, nosed out by East Moline Friday, lost its second of the weekend to Davenport Saturday 81-70. East Moline beat Rock Island 67-46 Saturday.

Pinckneyville, which has lost but three times this season and is ranked the state's second-best club behind Rockford West, barely got out of Decatur with its 23rd victory 32-31.

AAU Suspend Santee for Life

NEW YORK — Miler Wes Santee today charged the National AAU with "star chamber proceedings" in suspending him for life and demanded to meet his accusers "face to face in a real fair American trial."

Charles P. Grimes, Santee's attorney, declared he meant "to accomplish a complete vindication of Santee as an amateur and restore his rights to compete as an amateur and in the Olympics."

Santee, America's No. 1 miler and its best hope for a gold medal in the 1,500-meter run at Melbourne, Australia next December, was suspended for life by the AAU Sunday for allegedly accepting about $1,500 in excessive expense money for competing in various meets.

Also suspended were Al Frank, described as Santee's agent in California, and Fred Van Dyke, vice president of the Pacific AAU. Tom Moore, promoter of the Modesto Relays, also was charged with paying Santee excessive expense money for competing in the meet.

Santee announced through Grimes immediately following the announcement of the AAU's action that he "will sue in a New York civil court enjoining the AAU from carrying out the suspension."

Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the AAU, revealed that the Executive Committee voted, 14-1, to suspend Santee. The dissenting vote was cast by Lew Wilkie, last year's AAU president, who contended the matter should be referred to the Missouri Valley Assn. of the AAU.

Nashua, Swaps Headed For 'Rubber' Match
MIAMI — Nashua and Swaps, those cross-country thoroughbred rivals, today were heading toward a "rubber" match in the Gulfstream Park handicap on March 17.

Both have been nominated for the mile and one-quarter race and their respective owners indicated during the weekend they already are looking ahead to such a meeting.

Locals Finish Home Season; Play at West Frankfort Friday Night

The Eldorado Eagles knocked off Harrisburg, 48 to 35, in a cage tilt here Saturday night.

The Bull Dogs finished their home season in the encounter, and now travel to West Frankfort Friday night and Johnston City the following evening before they meet Eldorado again a week from tonight in the second game of the McLeansboro regional meet.

Neither Harrisburg nor Eldorado played spectacular basketball in the Eagle victory, but the locals were as cold as they have been all season. They shot 21 per cent the first half and 23 per cent the second, racking up but 11 field goals all night.

The period ended with the score tied at 8 to 8 with each team making three field goals, two free throws, committing three fouls and missing two free throws.

Equality ended there, however, as Eldorado pulled away from a 15-14 Harrisburg lead to go ahead, 20 to 17, at halftime. The margin increased in both the third and fourth periods.

In the preliminary game the Bull Pups were beaten, 55 to 36, by Eldorado. Harrisburg led 12 to 9 at the quarter but was behind 24-21 at halftime and 47 to 24 at the end of the third quarter.

The scoring:
Harrisburg: Biggs 7, Hassett 6, Yates 4, Kane 2, Rauh 5, Maynard 4, Hefner 8, Bryant 0, Pickford 0 and Price 0.

Eldorado: Dempsey 22, Kingery 15, Mosby 7, Cawthon 0, Overton 11, Justice 0, Woods 10, Hines 0.
